The Conflict of Interests Form

The conflict-of-interest form is an agreement in which the author(s) of an article declare that they have completely avoided any action against publishing ethics, including plagiarism, misconduct, falsification of data, or duplicate submission and publication, about the publication of the submitted article. And there are no commercial interests regarding this and the authors have not received any money for submitting their work. The conflict-of-interest form shows the readers how the text of the article was prepared and presented by the author. The corresponding author signs and approves this form on behalf of other authors and declares the originality of its content. The corresponding author also declares that this manuscript has not been published elsewhere and has not been simultaneously submitted to another journal. In addition, all rights to use the content have been assigned to the publisher.

Name of the corresponding author:
Email Address:
Phone Number:
Organizational Affiliation:
Title of the Article:

Did the authors or the affiliated institution receive funds from a third party for any parts of the submitted manuscript? Yes / No

Do the authors have any pending or registered patents related to this work? Yes / No

Are there any other access ways that readers can get additional information about the article from the author(s)? Yes / No

Are there any aspects of this work related to experimental animals or specific human diseases that require publication ethics approval? Yes / No

Name of the corresponding author:
Date:
Signature: